

Example 1

As an active member of The Kingswinford school I enjoy my roles of Head boy, house captain of Tudor house and prefect. These roles require high levels of organisation and commitment and since taking on these roles I feel I have become a better person. I enjoy the 9 GCSE's I am currently studying and feel I have taken the task of coursework and studying quite well.

I feel I am a valued member of the school community and I enjoy the responsibility that these roles bring. I also take part in lower school council meetings, listening and responding to problems other students have within the school.

Through school I have also taken part in many other activities. These include charity work with help on the Operation Christmas child project and the project I have enjoyed the most, Kicfm. In the summer of 2001 I took part with Kicfm, a radio station for young people, by young people. Kids In Communication believes in giving the youth of today a voice in society and by making 4, 2 hour radio broadcasts. I thoroughly enjoyed working with other people and members of the Kic team and whilst doing Kicfm I achieved a city and guilds qualification. I then completed a further broadcast in Wolverhampton during March 2002 in which I aired another 4, 2 hour broadcast along with friends. By taking part in Kic fm I feel I am now able to make friends easier and feel I have very good communication skills. I have now also applied for Dudley Hospital Radio as a volunteer, in which I hope to be able to entertain and bring enjoyment into the lives of children on the children's ward.

I have also taken up many activities within school and am a team player. I have taken part in many house activities such as inter house rounders and sports day. I am currently the editor of the school yearbook which involves organising the committee and working together with the team of around 20.
